Lincoln has now agreed to offer these services on a tariffed basis, consistent with the tariffed services of other similar companies. On December 15, 1998, the PSC waived the requirements of ARM 38.5.4101 – 38.5.4120, voted to treat the BFR as a request for interconnection negotiations pursuant to 47 U.S.C. § 251(b)(3) and § 69-3-834(2), MCA, and suspended further action until the parties had filed either a request for arbitration or an implementation agreement for approval. AT&T notified the PSC by letter received on December 28, 1998, that it wished to withdraw its BFR because InterBel had already implemented dialing parity via the “2-PIC” method. Lincoln’s plan provides for implementation within nine months of receiving a BFR from AT&T (on or about October 6, 1998). Thus, Lincoln requests a waiver of the six-month requirement in ARM 38.5.4103(2)(a). Lincoln represents that it has contacted AT&T, the only requesting carrier, and that AT&T does not object to the waiver. Commissioner Anderson moved to grant the waiver.
